U.S. Punches Reds By Air

SAIGON (AP) — Forty U.S. Navy planes destroyed three North Vietnamese military barracks today and inflicted heavy damage on other installations in the second consecutive day of air strikes against North Viet Nam, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The spokesman said the aircraft from the carrier Coral Sea struck at two target areas 60 miles north of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

The raid was the second in 24 hours after a similar suspension of air strikes against the north.

Speculation grew that the United States may broaden its air attacks on North Viet Nam.

The barracks were destroyed at Huan Lao. It was not known whether they were occupied.

A military radio station, a power house and communications and administration buildings were reported destroyed at nearby Chanh Hoa.

The spokesman said 30 Skyhawks, supported by 10 F-4 Phantom II fighters, pounded the targets for 45 minutes with missiles, rockets and 50 tons of bombs.

Pilots reported light ground fire and no enemy planes were

Since the three-month-long air strikes so far have not resulted in bringing the North Vietnamese to the conference table, there was speculation that the raiders may seek more important targets.

The air strikes against the north were resumed Tuesday after the six-day pause during which the United States was reported to have sent out feelers to North Viet Nam for peace talks. Hanoi evidently rejected them.

State department spokesman Robert J. McNamara said in Washington the United States was disappointed at the failure of North Viet Nam to respond in any way to the suspension.

"If the other side saw anything at all," McNamara said, "we had no evidence of it."

MARINES PATROL SANTA DOMINICA BUT DON'T FIGHT

Dominican Junta Scents Victory

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The radio station said "the insurgents have disappeared and we are trying to find them." There still was no official figure on casualties in the battle, which has been raging for three days. There have been unverified reports of many dead and among civilians living in the northern suburbs.

Units of the Dominican air force police moved into the central Santo Domingo radio station this morning after a brief exchange of fire with snipers in nearby buildings.

The junta, apparently scenting victory in the civil war, turned down Tuesday night a United Nations appeal for a ceasefire which the rebels were reported ready to accept.

Troops loyal to the junta appeared to have control of more than half the industrial - suburban area north of the east-west corridor established by U.S. troops leading to the international zone for refugees.

The main rebel stronghold lies south of the corridor.

The sound of battle lessened during the day. A military officer who led the occupation of the radio station said "the insurgents have disappeared and we are trying to find them." There still was no official figure on casualties in the battle, which has been raging for three days. There have been unverified reports of many dead and among civilians living in the northern suburbs.

U.S. troops are not involved in the fighting, but a U.S. military spokesman said five American soldiers were wounded by rebel sniper fire in 56 separate shooting incidents in the 24-hour period ending at midnight Tuesday night. U.S. battle casualties were 19 dead and 99 wounded.

Bennett Wants To Get Hands On Kootenay Power Facilities

TRAIL (CP) — Premier Bennett indicated today that the British Columbia government would like to get its hands on part of the East and West Kootenay power facilities.

But he did not use the word expropriation.

The facilities, owned by two subsidiaries of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., are the last major private power utilities in British Columbia.

The rest is owned by the government's B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, formed in 1962 out of the expropriated B.C. Electric Co. and the public B.C. Power Commission.

At a testimonial dinner at Cranbrook Tuesday night the premier said this:

"We are a free enterprise government but we would hope the East and West Kootenay Power and Light Companies would sell us that part of their systems which deal with public utilities at a fair price."

He said later that he was puzzled by Mr. Bennett's remarks.

"We must analyze the situation," he said. "Otherwise I have no comment."

Wheat Deal Talks Held

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Negotiations for the sale of Canadian wheat to China are taking place here, it was disclosed today.

William Riddell, assistant chairman of the Canadian wheat board, said: "We are in the middle of discussions. Everything is confidential."

An Ottawa report said the current negotiations were on a sale of 50,000 to 80,000 bushels of wheat under the existing long-term China wheat sale contract.

Hong Kong trade sources said here Tuesday the Canton trade fair and the Chinese government would sell us that part of their systems which deal with public utilities at a fair price."

Expropriation Of BCE A Big Boost To Economic Growth For All Province

CRANBROOK (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett said here Tuesday the 1961 government expropriation of the British Columbia Electric Co. made possible the province's buoyant economic situation.

He said the takeover allowed simultaneous hydro development of the Peace and Columbia rivers "key to the province's burgeoning industry."

The premier was addressing a testimonial dinner in his honor sponsored by the Cranbrook Kimberley Social Credit Association.

Provincial Secretary W. D. Black, Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi and Mines Minister Donald Brothers accompanied the premier.

As part of the after-dinner program, a meeting of Cranbrook city council conferred freedom of the city on Mr. Bennett.

The premier, addressing an audience of about 500, denied rumors that the provincial government would take over the B.C. Telephone Company or any other industry.

He said while B.C. needs a firm industrial base, the greatest industry the province will ever have is tourism. Tourist dollars acquired at the retail level filter down through the whole economic system without depletion of any natural resource.

Shah Arrives In Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The Shah of Iran, one of the West's staunchest friends in the Middle East, arrived from New York at 11:30 a.m. today to begin a week-long state visit to Canada.

Accompanied by his wife, Empress Farah, the 43-year-old Iranian ruler stepped from an RCMP Yukon aircraft at nearby Uplands airport to be greeted by Governor-General Vanier and Prime Minister Pearson.

Mr. Pearson lauded the Shah for his "outstanding leadership" and predicted that the current visit will strengthen ties between Canada and Iran.

The visit includes calls at Quebec, Montreal and Toronto.

POLAND PROTESTS

Poland says it "intends to take further steps" with the U.S. government "in connection with the defection of Wladyslaw Tykocinski, above, chief of the Polish military mission in West Berlin, P.A.P., the official Polish press agency, accused U.S. military police and West Berlin police of trying in vain to pressure Tykocinski's wife to defect with him.

Other significant changes proposed included giving Vancouver's booming municipalities of North and West Vancouver their own seat, the booming north country and Prince George its own riding and splitting densely-populated New Westminster to form a Surrey riding.

HELD BY LIBERAL

The massive Coast Capilano riding that included North and West Vancouver was held by Liberal Jack Davis, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Pearson.

His seat was split three ways — a section given to North and West Vancouver, a piece to Vancouver Island's Comox-Alberni and the lion's share to a

Police Comb Prince Albert But Fail To Track Escapees

PRINCE ALBERT (CP) — Penitentiary personnel and Prince Albert city police Tuesday night combed the city and failed to locate new clues in the search for four Montreal men who escaped Sunday night from the federal penitentiary here.

The city was divided into 10 zones, and assistant warden Don Fowler, with five penitentiary personnel and one city policeman assigned to search each zone.

Variant buildings also failed to show any signs, he said. Mr. Fowler said police still believed the four convicts — Yvan Lamarche, 28, Claude Poiré, 31, Maurice Gosselin, 37, and Roger Albert Savard, 37 — were still in the Prince Albert area.

The assistant warden confirmed a report that hawks were used to cut the cell bars.

He said nothing definite would be known for about a week.

Roadblocks still were up in the Prince Albert area.

Officials termed the four men as extremely dangerous. Lamarche was serving a life term for attempted murder, Poiré and Savard 25 years each for armed robbery and Gosselin 22 years for attempted murder.

Mr. Fowler said he was amazed at the lack of clues.

"No one has reported anything in connection with the escape," he said.

The hunt warmed up briefly early Tuesday with a report gasoline was stolen about 40 miles south of here, but police said there was nothing to establish a connection with the escape.

Era Of Hostility And Mistrust Ended By Queen's Bonn Visit

BONN (Reuters) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth lifted half a century of hostility and mistrust today when the citizens of Bonn stopped work and thronged the streets to greet her on the second day of her state visit to West Germany.

A police spokesman said the crowds were "considerably greater than those that turned out to cheer the late president Kennedy on his visit to Bonn in 1963 and exceeded those that welcomed French President de Gaulle the year before."

People in the crowd seemed to sense that the Queen's visit was more than a public spectacle but also an historic occasion which would finally heal the scars of two world wars.

The crowd was restrained as the 39-year-old monarch placed a wreath on a memorial to the dead of both world wars and the victims of Nazi persecution.

But as she drove through the packed streets to the Rathaus (town hall) and to the Beethoven statue where she placed a bouquet of pink roses, the Queen was greeted by a storm of clapping and cheers.

Shouts of "Elizabeth" and "Viva la Queen" mingled with the cheers. The cries replaced the traditional "heil" which West German etiquette experts have frowned on as recalling the Nazi period.

At one stage the crowds burst through the barriers, bringing the royal car to a halt. Later, as the Queen arrived at Bonn University, they charged across immaculate flower beds to cheer her. Some students tore branches off nearby lilac bushes and waved them at the royal visitor.

Little Joe Fails Only "Partially"

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (AP) — A Little Joe II rocket test of a safety system for moonbound astronauts failed today as the second stage apparently failed to fire.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said the flight apparently was only a partial success.

The mighty rocket, its six motors trailing a brilliant volume of flame, roared off its launch pad shortly after 9 a.m.

The vehicle's second stage motor apparently failed to fire, the spokesman said.

British Support Of U.S. Seen As Reason For Kosygin's Snub

LONDON (Reuters) — Russian Premier Kosygin has abandoned plans for an early visit to Britain because of Britain's support for U.S. policies in Viet Nam, informed sources said today.

The sources said the Russian move also would rule out a return visit to Moscow this year by Labor Prime Minister Wilson.

The two Anglo-Russian top-level meetings were first announced by Wilson in Parliament in December two months after his socialist administration took office.

Diplomatic observers said Russia made it clear in recent contacts with Britain that Kosygin's visit, due sometime this spring, was off for the time being at least.

While Russians still accepted the idea of visits in principle, the sources said, they stressed Kosygin would only come to London at an appropriate time, and when Moscow thought it would serve a useful purpose.

Wilson had hoped to fix the dates for Kosygin's visit when Russian Foreign Minister Gromyko was in London for talks two months ago.

But Gromyko then side-stepped the issue and left it over for further discussion through diplomatic channels. These and other Anglo-Soviet contacts yielded no results, the sources said.

Wilson has visits to several Commonwealth countries planned later this year. In either September or October, during the parliamentary recess, he is due to visit India, Pakistan and Malaysia.

Scaffold Collapses Killing 2

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Two men were killed and five injured today when a scaffold collapsed on a chimney construction project, hurling them more than 100 feet to the ground.

Identities of the dead men were withheld and police said they were having difficulty locating next-of-kin. One was reported to be from the Fort William district, the other from eastern Canada.

Three of the injured were identified as Myron Watsky of Fort William, Terence Byington of Fort William and William Bishop of Toronto. Bishop was said to be suffering only scalp lacerations and bruises.

The other two were from Fort William and Blind River.

The accident happened about 9 a.m. as an 11-man crew worked on the chimney, part of a new $30,000 kraft mill being built for the Great Lakes Paper Company.

The men were on a scaffold inside the chimney, which is slated to rise 300 feet on completion. It is 25 to 30 feet in diameter at the point where the scaffolding broke, an estimated 110 to 120 feet high.

Harry E. Jenkins, project manager for Cape Construction Company of Montreal which is building the new plant, said because of the accident is being investigated.

UN Might Have To Report: 'The Red Coats Are Coming...'

OTTAWA (CP) — Will the 1st Battalion, Canadian Guards, have to rush off on a United Nations peacekeeping mission still wearing their red coats and bearskin hats?

The defence department is keeping its fingers crossed that the UN won't make a new call for a Canadian contingent this summer.

It announced today that the 1st Guards on June 28 will begin the daily changing of the guard ceremony on Parliament Hill, a prime tourist attraction in the capital.

The fact that this country's UN standby unit will be performing a ritual for tourists at a time when External Affairs Minister Martin is saying that UN peacekeeping is the "way of the future" has many officials here, especially in the foreign ministry, hopping with anxiety.

One said Canada's whole peacekeeping effort will be held up to ridicule.

Defence department informants said, however, that with all its other commitments the army is running short of infantry battalions.

Incredible Plot Told To Court

NEW YORK (CP) — A police undercover man testified Tuesday that three American racial extremists hatched an incredible scheme to blow up the Statue of Liberty, without regard for human life.

"If anyone is killed or injured, they'd have to be sacrificed for the cause," the policeman, Raymond Wood, 31, quoted one of the defendants as saying.

Wood, a New York City patrolman who since has been promoted to detective, was the first witness at the federal court conspiracy trial of the trio.

They are members of the extremist Black Liberation Front, described as ideologically linked to China and Cuba, says the government.

The three are Robert S. Collier, 28, called the "leader" of the bomb plot; Augustus Bowe, 32, and Khuleel Sultan Sayeed, 22. All are New York Negroes.

SMUGGLED DYNAMITE

A fourth person, Michelle Duclos, 26, a one-time Montreal television personality, had been indicted in the case by a New York grand jury and pleaded guilty last Thursday to a charge of smuggling dynamite into the United States from Canada.

The commission called for abolishing two ridings, creating two, renaming and realigning five and splitting one.

The re-drafting, under way across Canada, was necessary to give B.C. one more seat in Parliament for a total of 23 and to bring ridings within an average population of 70,829.

The commission was permitted to draw boundaries with a leeway of 25 per cent more or less than the average.

The figures in the report showed the commission went 10 per cent over the average in urban ridings and 18-20 per cent under in the so-called hinterland regions.

SPLIT FRASER VALLEY

The new seat was created by splitting the heavily-populated Fraser Valley riding east of Vancouver into Fraser Valley East and Fraser Valley West.

Alex Britton holds the seat for Social Credit.

The commission took away one of Vancouver's six seats, eliminating the central business district riding of Vancouver-Burrard held by Liberal Ron Dastford.

ELECTORAL BOUNDARIES COMMISSION SPEAKS

Political Face-Lift for B.C. Etched

VANCOUVER (CP) — Drastic changes in the political face of British Columbia were etched in a report published today by the B.C. electoral boundaries commission.

Virtually none of the province's federal ridings escaped redistribution recommendations of the commission, headed by Mr. Justice Harold W. McInnes.

The commission called for abolishing two ridings, creating two, renaming and realigning five and splitting one.

The re-drafting, under way across Canada, was necessary to give B.C. one more seat in Parliament for a total of 23 and to bring ridings within an average population of 70,829.

The figures in the report showed the commission went 10 per cent over the average in urban ridings and 18-20 per cent under in the so-called hinterland regions.

SPLIT FRASER VALLEY

The new seat was created by splitting the heavily-populated Fraser Valley riding east of Vancouver into Fraser Valley East and Fraser Valley West.

Alex Britton holds the seat for Social Credit.

The commission took away one of Vancouver's six seats, eliminating the central business district riding of Vancouver-Burrard held by Liberal Ron Dastford.

The sparsely-populated Okanagan-Island riding in southwestern B.C. held by Conservative Stuart Fleming was abolished. Most of the region was merged in Liberal James Byrne's Kootenay-East which was renamed Okanagan-Kootenay.

Mr. Fleming has said he will not run again.

The proposed boundaries will be discussed in a series of hearings beginning June 23 in Vancouver and ending Oct. 5 in Nelson.

Other commission members are George F. Curtis, dean of law at the University of British Columbia, Magistrate Roderick Haig-Brown of Campbell River and Nelson Castonguay, chief federal electoral officer.

Other significant changes proposed included giving Vancouver's booming municipalities of North and West Vancouver their own seat, the booming north country and Prince George its own riding and splitting densely-populated New Westminster to form a Surrey riding.

HELD BY LIBERAL

The massive Coast Capilano riding that included North and West Vancouver was held by Liberal Jack Davis, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Pearson.

His seat was split three ways — a section given to North and West Vancouver, a piece to Vancouver Island's Comox-Alberni and the lion's share to a new riding named Coast-Chilcotin.

Coast-Chilcotin borrows heavily from Kamloops riding, Skeena, Cariboo — renamed Prince George — Peace River — and Coast Capilano.

The Burnaby-Capilano seat held by New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas was renamed Burnaby-Seymour and realigned to take in part of the north shore — the new Fraser Valley West riding leaning heavily into its area.

Under the proposed changes Kamloops loses Merritt to Okanagan — Boundary but gains Quasnel in the north. Williams Lake, previously with Kamloops, goes to Coast-Chilcotin because it was deemed a trading funnel for the region.

Mr. Winston Churchill's widow, who was made a life peeress two weeks ago, has chosen the title Baroness Spencer-Churchill of Charnwell in the county of Kent. It was announced in today's London Gazette. Spencer-Churchill is the family name, but Sir Winston dropped the hyphen.

Prime Minister Pearson and Justice Minister Faureau declined in the Commons Tuesday to give additional details on the Russian espionage case revealed 10 days ago.

Earl Mountbatten, Britain's chief of defence staff, arrived in Ottawa Tuesday on a fact-finding mission to the British government's commission on immigration, which he also heads.

Dr. Charles Willoughby, Conservative Member of Parliament for Kamloops, has advised the chamber of commerce that ground-to-air facilities should be installed at nearby Fulton Field airport by the summer of 1966.

External Affairs Minister Marjory Leighton said in the Commons Tuesday that an official of his department was sent to the Dominican Republic a few days ago to report regularly to Ottawa on the crisis there.

Mrs. Louise Pearson, mother of British Columbia Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, died Monday night in a Victoria hospital. She was 98.

Highways Minister Gagliardi said Tuesday in Cranbrook that tenders will be called shortly for the completion within a year of the Cranbrook to Golden highway.

JOMO KENYATTA ... violation claimed

President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya said Tuesday Kenya's territorial integrity had been seriously violated by the unauthorized movement of arms through the country in 11 trucks intercepted Saturday in the Kisi district of western Kenya. He told a press conference 10 of the trucks bore Ugandan registration numbers and the 11th a Tanzanian number.

Mike Massaro, nationality unknown, was remanded for one week Tuesday in Havelock, after being charged with trying to obtain money fraudulently with forged travellers' cheques stolen in a $60,000 Montreal bank raid last month. The 33-year-old carpenter was charged with attempting to cash the cheques in a Hove bank. Bail was not granted.

Leonard Gold of Springfield, Ohio, president of a Springfield firm said today his company has made a container which can freeze a human body until theoretically medical science learns how to bring it back to life. The container, Gold said, will be available soon for frozen burials. But, Gold said, "there is no known method of thawing the body at present without damage."

Prime Minister Pearson says he didn't call Liberal Premier Thatcher of Saskatchewan an "ingrate" when in Regina Monday. He told R. G. L. Fairweather (PC-Royal) in the Commons Tuesday that he hadn't used this term and certainly not in connection with his meeting with Mr. Thatcher and the Saskatchewan cabinet.

After 20 Years of Talking Columbia River Job Starts

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction of the Columbia River power project — a $500,000,000 undertaking — starts today. A cheque for $273,261,661.24 — Federal Labor Minister Allan Rock's advance lump sum payment for the sale of downstream benefits — was turned over to British Columbia by Mr. Johnson. Provincial government economists estimate that by 1971 U.S. payments to B.C. will total $500,000,000, providing the money draws 4 1/2 per cent interest all that time. All money received from the U.S. has been invested, says Resources Minister Ray Wiliston. It is recovered and used on the Columbia as needed. B.C. loaned $100,000,000 of the advance payment to Quebec province. The federal government paid $15,000,000 for engineering and other costs leading to the Columbia treaty. The cost to the provincial government is not known. Economists for B.C. Hydro and Power Authority have said the development will mean about $100,000,000 to businesses in interior B.C. during the next 20 years.

Dams Will Even Flow Of Big River Effectively At All Times Of Year

Under the treaty, Canada will build the Mica, Arrow and Duncan dams, with completion dates of 1973, 1969 and 1968 respectively. The dams will even the flow of the Columbia system throughout the year. Taming the river will enable 11 dams along the Columbia in the U.S. to produce 2,800,000 additional kilowatts of power. This is more than the entire output of Washington's Grand Coulee Dam, largest in North America. Canada is entitled to 50 per cent of this new power. Building of the dams will be financed through the advance payment from the U.S. Later, Canada will receive some $70,000,000 for flood control work covering the 1968-73 period. The advance payment came from a consortium of utility firms in the U.S. Pacific Northwest. Called the Columbia Storage Power Exchange, the firms sold $314,000,000 in bonds. The bonds will be paid off by reselling the power to its members and other utilities. The exchange is a non-profit organization and includes 14 U.S. public utility districts, 11 municipal governments and four private utilities.

Eight Satellites Go Up At Once

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States secretly launched eight military satellites into orbit with one rocket last March 9, the New York Times says. This was the greatest number of payloads ever put into space with one booster by the U.S. and it is believed to exceed any multiple launching made by the Soviet Union, a Washington dispatch says.

The story also says in part: The satellites were launched by an Air Force Thor-Agena rocket from Vandenberg Air Base in California. They were pushed apart from each other by metal springs. A similar technique will be used by the Air Force several times next year to put eight military communications satellites into orbit at one time from a single Titan-3C rocket.

Under the treaty, the U.S. will be permitted to construct the Libby Dam on the Kootenai River in Montana. Cost will be $350,000,000 and generating capacity 650,000 kilowatts. The concrete structure will rise 400 feet from bedrock and will back up river water 40 miles into Canada.

Real-Estate Chief Curbed By Court

NEW YORK (AP) — William Zeckendorf was temporarily stripped Tuesday of control of the once far-flung real estate empire he operated under the name of Webb and Knapp.

'Hard Luck' Hurler Stops Dodgers

Los Angeles Dodgers are over Cincinnati Reds, whose building a reputation as late-inning terrors. That's when they break up no-hitters.

But the light-hitting Dodgers probably stand a better chance of losing the National League lead than Houston's Ken Johnson, who broke even on a no-hit decision.

Johnson, who lost a no-hitter last year, came within eight outs of winning one indoors Tuesday night. He wound up with a six-run, three-hit loss over a 4-1, three-hit triumph over seven-game Astro again.

The victory in Houston's domed stadium was the third against one loss for the veteran right-hander, who pitched a no-hit gem against Cincinnati last season but bowed 1-4 on errors.

The near no-hitter was the second against the Dodgers in four days. Dock Ellisworth of Chicago Cubs stymied them for 7 1/3 innings last Saturday only to lose 3-1 on a three-run homer by pinch-hitter Al Ferrara.

The loss trimmed the Dodgers' league lead to 3 1/2 games over Cincinnati Reds, whose game with Pittsburgh Pirates was rained out. St. Louis Cardinals drubbed Philadelphia Phillies 8-2 behind left-hander Ray Sadecki. Milwaukee Braves topped New York Mets 4-3 and Chicago Cubs downed San Francisco Giants 7-6 in a game halted after 1 1/2 innings because of darkness and rain.

EXTRA NO-HIT BUD

Ron Fardy doubled with one out in the seventh, ending Johnson's no-hit bid at Houston, and scored the Dodgers' run on a single by Jim LeFebvre. Johnson gave way to Hal Woodeshack after walking Fardy with one out in the ninth.

Sadecki gave up fourth-inning home runs to Richie Allen and Alex Johnson but allowed only three other hits while winning his first game in five decisions. It was the first complete game for the St. Louis outslapper, a 30-game winner in '64 who had been knocked out twice in the first inning this spring.

Home runs by Bill White and Tom McCarver paced the Cardinals' 11-hit attack.

Sox Discover New Fireman To Extend AL Spread

Eddie Fisher is saving every-thing these days except Hoyt Wilhelm's job.

Fisher, 28, quickly became one of the American League's best relief pitchers, appearing in 17 games, winning 10 and receiving credit for six more. During Chicago's current streak, Fisher has been called to the rescue in six games, preserving the victory each time.

As a result of Fisher's aptitude for learning, Wilhelm—who appeared in 73 games with Chicago last year—has spent most of his time watching his protégé on the mound, having been called on only six times.

Fisher's last save came after the Athletics had cut Chicago's lead to 3-4 with a run in the ninth inning. Fisher re-leased reliever Tommy John and ended the game by re-turning pinch-hitter Rene Lachance on a pop foul.

Elsewhere in the AL, another relief pitcher, Boston's Dick Radatz, didn't meet with such success. Radatz, having a surprisingly difficult time this season, was the losing pitcher in New York Yankees' 12-inning, 6-3 victory over the Red Sox.

In other games, Cleveland Indians edged Baltimore Orioles 1-0, Los Angeles Angels trounced Minnesota Twins 3-1 and Washington Senators out-slugged Detroit Tigers 15-9.

The White Sox scored all of their runs in the fifth inning with the help of three straight walks by Orlando Pena and Moe Drabowsky's wild pitch. Ron Hansen capped the rally with a two-run single.

The Yankees, held hitless for six innings by Dave Morehead, erupted for two runs and a 3-0 win in the ninth before Tom Tresh's run-scoring triple in the 12th sent Radatz' earned run average to 7.27 and his record to 2-3.

Clay Able To Take Punch 'With Eyes Wide Open'

CHICOPPEE, Mass. (AP) — Sparhawk Dave Bailey believes he has found a very important reason for the rapid rise of heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay.

Bailey said Tuesday that Clay has the extraordinary ability to control his eye movement to the point where he won't blink or flinch even when a punch is thrown to his face.

"The man simply never closes his eyes, not even for an instant," Bailey revealed after a series of workouts with Clay. "Not even when you sting him with a jab on the nose. He's un-erased."

Bailey said he's trained with seven champions and been in the ring with many others and never has seen the phenomenon before.

"Walcott, Harold Johnson,

Archie Moore, Patterson, Lis-ton and Charles were all nor-mal. Throw some leather in front of their face and their eyes would blink like yours or mine."

GIVEN ADVANTAGE

Jimmy Ellis, the stablemate Clay is booming for the light heavyweight championship, explained the advantage such eye-sight gives Cassius.

"It means that you might get the first punch in but your chances are almost none. The average guy will blink when the first punch hits him and before he gets his eyes open again, the second punch of the combina-tion is on the way and he hasn't seen it start."

"Cassius, though, sees every-thing. This also gives him an advantage of being able to land an effective counter punch."

PETER'S PATTEN

with PETER MUNOZ

Hal Laycoe and Jack O'Reilly, on the surface, appear as different as night and day. But this is the fallacy of judg-ing people by the exterior only. Though they are prime exam-ples of exact opposites outwardly, innermost, they have much in common. So it is only logical that these two men have be-come fast friends.

Both share a common goal, their love for a game called hockey. Each, in his own way, promotes it the way he sees fit. The effervescent and outspoken Mr. O'Reilly cries out for the world to hear his theories on the game, what its ills are and how best they can be remedied. And many of his ideas are "disturbingly" right. Perhaps too much so for some people.

The soft-spoken manager and coach of Portland Buckaroos, Western League champions, is also concerned about improving the game and its image. To Laycoe it is a worthy product and should be kept that way. And so it was fitting that this successful hockey man should heap praise on a fighter like O'Reilly.

It is said by some that during the eulogy Laycoe rendered to O'Reilly, a tear came to the eye of the scrappy Irishman. He remembered Jack as a great competitor and contributor to the sport.

It fell upon O'Reilly to thank Laycoe for his oration at Kelowna Buckaroos' wind-up banquet Saturday night. And the deeply touched former coach of the Kelowna Packers and an ex-pro himself, said he was doing so "on behalf of hockey."

"Sometimes the game gets kind of sick and it's people like Hal who give it a lift. Players who don't emul'to Hal drag-the-game-down-Hockey-is-the-greatest-game-in-the-world-and-it's Canadian and for myself and my country I'm proud of Hal. He lifts the game and puts it in its rightful position... gives it a breath of fresh air." And these were the words of O'Reilly, whose eyes were now twinkling again.

There were a couple of other boys there who spoke briefly but well. Captain Terry Kasubuchi, in his farewell appearance as a Buckaroo, conveyed his mates' appreciation to the people of the district for their support. Terry said he was honored to have been part of the club for the last four seasons. This was his last season as a junior.

The other fellow apologized in advance for his poor oration and then went on to debunk himself. Mike Gial, the raucy goateer, came up with some fine performance in receiving the team's most valuable player award. After a sample of his delivery, he might be on the club's list of future dinner speakers.

Vancouver Works Way Up PCL Ladder With 3-1 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You'd have to pay extra if you wanted to buy Oklahoma City's Dave Roberts for your baseball team — especially after Tuesday night's Pacific Coast League game with Den-ver.

The Oklahomans and the Bears were struggling along just fine, all knotted at 4-5, until the bottom of the 11th when it was the husky outfielder's turn at bat.

Roberts cracked a 2-0 pitch beyond the 380-foot marker in right centrefield for his 13th home run of the year with two men aboard, and the Bears wound up with an 8-3 victory.

In other games, San Diego edged Portland 4-3, Salt Lake City downed Arkansas 4-2, Van-couver defeated Tacoma 6-2 in 10 innings, and Indianapolis swamped Hawaii 11-0.

San Diego's Ken Walters whacked a solo homer to break up a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning and relief pitcher Ted David-son shut out Portland for the remainder of the game for the Padres' winning margin.

Gerlach, Smith Pace LL Win

Bruce Gerlach, with a three-run home run, led his Bruce Paige teammates to an 8-1 win over Day's Dodgers in Kelowna Little League baseball action Tuesday night.

Gerlach and Mark Smith both hit three-for-four in the winning effort. For Day's, Paul Snook was the leading batsman hitting two-for-four.

John Walker was the winning pitcher, Snook, the loser. After giving up the home run ball, Snook settled down to fan nine batters.

Next game at Little League Park is tonight at 6:30, Day's meet Lions.

Ford Consigned To Yank's Bullpen

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran pitcher Whitey Ford of New York Yankees, experiencing the worst season of his career, was dropped from the starting rotation and sent to the bullpen Tuesday night.

Manager Johnny Keane said he made the move in hope of getting the 36-year-old left-hander back on the team.

Ford, in his 14th major league season, lost his fourth straight game Monday night in lasting only slightly more than four in-nings in Baltimore's 9-2 victory. The loss gave him a 2-5 record and a .607 earned run average.

Tebbetts Given 'Added Security'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleve-land Indians rehired Birdie Teb-betts Tuesday to manage the American League baseball club through the 1966 season.

Gabe Paul, Indians general manager, in a press conference, said he "wanted to give addi-tional security" to the 55-year-old Tebbetts, who led most of last season by a heart attack.

WON'T RETURN

Swedish forward Ulf Sterner, who played for New York Rangers last season, will not return to the National Hockey League this fall. A second-division team, Hogle BK, in southern Sweden, announced today that its Canadian coach Des Moroney has contracted both Ulf and his brother, Ove. Formal contracts will be signed June 1, a club spokes-man said.

Labs Dump OMBL Leaders In Bevy Of Thunderclaps

Kelowna Labatts edged closer to the Okanagan Mainline Base-ball League lead Tuesday night after they disposed of the lead-ing Kamloops Leilands 17-10 in a free-lugging contest at Ellis Stadium.

The hometowners took advan-tage of eight Kamloops' errors while raking the offerings of four pitchers for 14 hits. Leilands, meanwhile, were busy pounding out 13 hits off the combined services of starter Les Schaefer and reliever Grant Armeneau, who came on to start the eighth inning.

FIRST DEFEAT

The loss was Kamloops' first of the season and moved Kelowna within a half game of first place. Kamloops now have a 4-1 record, lost record. Labatts are 3-1.

The score-see-sawed back and forth in the early innings as both sides wheeled out the heavy ar-tillery. Kelowna finally pulled out of reach with a three-run up-rune in the sixth inning.

Five home runs and three doubles featured the 27 hits both clubs collected. Leilands led in roundtrippers with four.

EARLY START

Kelowna pounced on starter George Beecroft for two runs in the opening inning. Jack Burton led off with a double to left base and scored on Gerry Robert-son's single. A wild pitch sent Robertson to second and another he came home on Schaefer's solo shot by Ed Begg drew them within one run in the top double.

Kamloops came back in the third with back-to-back homers by Beecroft and Jack Fowler. Bottom of the sixth ahead 5-1 counting three runs. In the top, they combined four hits, four runs of the same frame. Bill Martino smashed a two-run shot to score after runs off Omer over the right-centre field wall Camp, who took over mound duties in the fifth inning. He relieved Jack Fowler, who came on when Beecroft was chased in the fourth. Stan Kato pitched the eighth inning for the losers.

SOLO BLAST

A solo current blast by George MacKortoff narrowed the margin to 5-4 at the top of the fourth. The opening inning. Jack Burton led off with a double to left base and scored on Gerry Robert-son's single. A wild pitch sent Robertson to second and another he came home on Schaefer's solo shot by Ed Begg drew them within one run in the top double.

YOUNG TEAM

Labatts changed their battery for the final two innings. They used a couple of youngsters fresh from Camie Mark runs. Both Armeneau and catcher Doug Bailey played minor ball here last season.

Armeneau gave up three runs and three hits in the two in-nings he worked, but two of the runs were unearned.

Schaefer picked up the win while Beecroft was the loser. Second baseman Jack Hatch led the Kelowna club at the plate with three singles in six trips. For Kamloops, shortstop Larry Roberts went three for five.

Tonight, Labatts travel to Penticton to meet Moisons in their second encounter of the new season. Labs either downed them here 6-2 in the only low scoring contest of the new OMBL season. A win tonight would give Kelowna a share of first place.

Court Upholds Spahn's Award Against Book Publishers

NEW YORK (AP)—The ap-pellate division unanimously af-firmed Tuesday a lower court decision that awarded Warren Spahn, an left-handed pitcher now with New York Mets, $10,000 in damages for the publica-tion of "The Warren Spahn Story."

The lower court had called the book "an unauthorized intru-sion" into Spahn's private life.

The ruling also upheld an in-junction against further publi-cation of the book written by readers.

Bold Lad Scratched From Jersey Derby

NEW YORK (AP) — Bold Lad, the bront favorite in the Kentucky Derby, has been de-clared out of the Jersey Derby at Garden State Park May 31 and the Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct June 5.

"His blood count still isn't right," said trainer Bill Win-ter, "so I'm going to make sure that I give him all the time he needs. That means I'm going to forget the Jersey Derby and Belmont with him."

Reception Follows Wedding At Home Of Bride's Mother

A pretty double-ring ceremony took place in the Rutland United Church on May 8 at 7 p.m. when Shirley Dorian Sommerfeld, daughter of Fred Sommerfeld and Mrs. Jeanette Sommerfeld, became the bride, married to Donald Prosser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Prosser of Rutland. Yellow spring flowers decorated the church. Rev. Hindmarsh officiated and music for the ceremony was played by Mrs. Drumwater.

AROUND TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Parmenter, Willow Crescent, are in Guelph, Ontario, attending the graduation exercises of their son, Dr. Robert D. Parmenter, who will be driving home shortly with their son who has been appointed to the staff of the Veterinary Clinic at Langley. His duties commence on May 21 and Mrs. Parmenter, the former Arlene McKinley, will join her husband at the end of the school term.

Mrs. A. W. N. Drutt motored to Walla Walla College recently and drove her daughter Beverly and her roommate Helen Ogley back to Kelowna for a few days holiday. The two girls returned to Walla Walla Sunday to prepare for their final examinations.

Mrs. Maureen Campbell of Edmonton has arrived in Kelowna to stay with her mother, Mrs. W. Nellis, Harvey Ave.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Jarvis, Leon Avenue, is the latter's father, J. Carmichael, from Victoria, who arrived on Saturday.

The provincial conference of Business and Professional Women's Clubs of British Columbia and Yukon will be held at Plover Lodge, Manning Park, B.C. during the weekend of May 22, 23 and 24, 1965, with Mrs. Ivy Baston, provincial president in the chair. Miss Nazla Dane, president of the Canadian Federation of BFW Clubs, will be guest speaker at the banquet on Saturday, May 22.

Kennedy Family Play Important Role Aiding Mentally Retarded

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy spoke of one of the many sorrows that have punctuated her remarkable life—Rosemary, her mentally retarded daughter.

"We don't usually talk about it," Mrs. Kennedy began.

The fact that the Kennedy family had not chosen to remain completely silent has played an important part in the growth of hospitals, institutions and research programs for at least some of the 6,000,000 mentally retarded in the United States.

Rosemary, 46, was the first daughter and the third Kennedy born to Joseph Patrick and Rose Kennedy. Her elder brothers, Joseph and John, the late U.S. president, as well as the sister to come later, Kathleen, now are dead.

"Rosemary was one of a large family and so she ran and played and seemed a happy child," Mrs. Kennedy said. "We didn't notice anything wrong at first," said Mrs. Kennedy. "Oh she would seem a little slow at times—but there is usually always one child in a large family who develops a little less rapidly than the rest."

But as the pretty, blonde child grew older, Mrs. Kennedy began to realize something was wrong.

"I thought," she said, "that if only I could coat this child with a veneer of learning—maybe just enough to know Black and De Vries and what the ever-kind of scientist might be a part of her life—well, then she might be able to get along all right."

"Then as she matured it got to be even more difficult. It is always more difficult for the parent, you know.

"Privileges were a problem too. Why couldn't she take a boat out alone when her brothers and sisters were able to do so? These were conflicts in the family, things she could not understand."

"HAPPY IN HOME"
"Eventually, it was obvious that she felt more comfortable, was a great deal happier with youngsters like herself, and well we placed her in this Catholic home."

The Kennedy family could afford trained help and institutional care. Mrs. Kennedy has always been keenly aware of this.

"When I was campaigning for Jack, people would come up and thank me for the Joseph Kennedy Foundation we established as a memorial to my oldest son. We did it because he was very fond of children, and because this business of retardation which was a problem to us had affected so many children."

Within a few years the foundation discovered it could not possibly build hospitals and homes fast enough to care only for retarded children.

As a consequence the foundation now emphasizes research, public health education, all preventative measures.

"The important period of preventing brain damage is the nine months after conception," she said. "Do you realize that 30 per cent of the mothers don't receive pre-natal care? We need to bring these services to the poor especially."

ANN LANDERS

If You Have Not Tried Honey, Don't Knock It

Dear Ann Landers: Of all the silly squabbles in your column, the one about the wife who undressed in the closet takes the cake. So far as I could tell the woman didn't say she slept in the closet, did she? All she did was undress there. It was unfair of you to suggest that she was off her rocker.

Do you feel, Ann Landers, that it is a wife's duty to put on a nightgown for her husband? Do you honestly believe a man would not think about sex unless he was treated to some visual stimulation? This is ridiculous. Any man who is THAT dead sexually would not bat an eye at the sight of a woman undressing.

A man who is interested in romance will let a woman know if he is tired and not interested he deserves to be left alone. To deliberately arouse a husband who has fallen into bed exhausted after a hard day's work is inconsiderate—and it could cause him to feel inadequate.

Speaking for myself, I wouldn't dream of undressing in the closet. I go into the bathroom.

Dear George: If you haven't tried it, Honey, don't knock it.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl who probably should have been born a boy. I am large and muscular, but not fat. The problem is that I am much better at sports than any of the fellows I go with and it is embarrassing. I think it is also hurting me socially. I can cream any fellow I stand in the doorway until they know on the tennis court. I love to play tennis but not too many fellows will play against me. I started to play golf with my KNOX dad when I was seven. I won a local tournament last year and the person I beat used to be a special boy friend. He doesn't call me any more.

I once believed that excelling in sports would make me more popular. The uncoordinated by an hour and see if you get girls who don't know a putter a warmer farewell.

When our guest leave we always walk them to their car, or if the weather is bad we stand in the doorway until they drive off. Are we overly hospitable or are our friends less than hospitable? — NEED TO

Dear Need to Know: It is un- speakable rude to slam the door on departing guests. The custom of waiting guests to their car suggests that their company is valued. It is a very last minute sports would make me more popular. The uncoordinated by an hour and see if you get girls who don't know a putter a warmer farewell.

Dear George: If you haven't tried it, Honey, don't knock it.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl who probably should have been

Foresters Reward Rutland Mother

WINFIELD — Mrs. Jackie Grandich, 445 Donahue Rd., Rutland was voted Mother of the Year by members of Court Winfield No. 203 of the Independent Order of Foresters.

She was honored at an impressive international ceremony at the Peach Arch to Elaine, Wash. on Mother's Day when the Mother's of the Year from all courts of the order in British Columbia and Washington assembled.

She was escorted by her husband Wilfred, and accompanied by an Okanagan encourage headed by Past Chief Ranger Sigh Kobayashi and Miss Independent Forester 1963, Miss Shirley Crowder of Winfield.

Steam Preferred To Nuclear Age

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Even if atomic energy in the future supplies electricity at low cost, New Zealand believes it has a still cheaper source of supply in the underground steam, trapped deep below the earth at high pressure and temperature, in a belt across the centre of the North Island.

One major power station is already producing electricity by this means, from deep bores harnessed to drive turbines. Engineers believe that future stations can be built to provide electricity from geothermal steam for less than half a cent a unit.

At the next meeting to be held on June 11 Miss Leslie Cameron will show a movie on India. Miss Cameron, who is a missionary under the BMMF is herself leaving shortly for India where she will spend the next five years.

Kelowna Women 'Good Neighbors' To Expanding Homemakers Service

"Good Neighbors" may well describe the Kelowna women who are the mainstay of the Homemakers Service. This work has been carried on in this city since 1946, under the direction of Tom Hamilton and the Homemakers committee. It is financed solely by the Community Chest and fees from those families which can afford to pay.

The work of the visiting homemaker appeals to the woman with a desire to do something useful for her community and, at the same time, supplement her income. It provides jobs particularly appealing and suited to the capabilities of many women, old and young, who are not interested in commercial employment.

The function of the visiting homemaker is to help maintain wholesome family living during the absence or illness of the mother, or when some other problem or emergency may arise, requiring outside help. In many cases, she is part of a team of workers providing related services such as public health nurse, social workers, health aides, etc.

For the past month, Mrs. B. Thompson-Trump, as superintendent of the Homemakers Service, has been interviewing women in Kelowna and offering them jobs who have expressed the wish to join the Homemakers staff.

By the end of May, new uniforms bearing the Kelowna Homemakers Service crest, will be available to members. Anyone wishing more information about this worthwhile and remunerative work could leave their name with the Social Service Department, City Hall, Kelowna.

This Flagman's Just A Darling —She Has Crush On Crusher

VANCOUVER (CP) — Not a day goes by when Karen Kay is not the most popular flagman in British Columbia.

Reason is, she comes with all that soft wavy hair and bright blue eyes.

Friends in the city know her as Karen Kay, 18, graduate of West Vancouver high school, 10th-month junior clerk at Burrard Dry Docks, daughter of the superintendent of City Construction Co.

But she has had this career most already this spring for her beloved north, where she can't wait for the small of dust and the fatigue of 12-hour days flagging "my traffic" past the parking areas.

Karen is the darling of truck drivers and tourists wherever City Construction happens to have a paving or roadbuilding contract on the go. She has seen more of British Columbia since she was 18 than most of the province's citizens do in a lifetime.

Ben Kay has always taken his wife and daughter with him on construction jobs and Karen senses his responsibilities so closely she could almost step into his shoes.

She drove a pickup truck before she touched the wheel of a car. There's a good chance she could operate a bulldozer or a rock crusher in a pinch, although to admit experience with either would be to admit breach of human contracts.

This summer Karen will accompany the 40th crew to jobs at Tsimshian, U.S. and Seward Crossing. Holding her line of traffic while the pilot car brings a string from the other end, she will have her picture taken hundreds of times and talk to loggers, farmers, ranchers and tourists from most provinces and U.S. states. She will offer advice on places to see and stay, and make up to $400 a month towards her trip next January to England, where she would like to dispense more travel tips on B.C. from a receptionist's desk at British Columbia House in London.

Karen thinks more city girls should travel, enjoy the open air, try an old-fashioned two-step at a country dance, and forget bouffant hairdos for a summer. She has determined that a girl who deserves respect will get it from the men she encounters, even on the tough edge of B.C.'s frontier.

"I'd rather be out getting all dirty—as long as I can get home and clean up—than be in an office with a bunch of women," she says.

"Sometimes I don't care whether I'm paid or not. I'm in my glory when the old crusher's chugging away and everything's going right."

L'ANSE AU SABLE

ESTATE SALE

We are now offering a unique and historic lakeshore property on Watt Road. A full acre of natural garden privacy with 100' of deep, pure sand frontage. The house was originally built on the best site in the entire area as the Boyce summer home. Enlarged and improved over the years, it now contains three spacious bedrooms, large living room with open fireplace, separate dining room, kitchen, bath, 3 sleeping porches, utility and storage. Old Acacia shade the secluded garden patio, opening off the living room.

The house and garden are attractively united but the size of the property suggests another use. It might be divided to provide a magnificent lakeshore building site while retaining most of the garden, and perhaps a bit of lakeshore, with the existing residence.

To close an estate, the full price is $36,000 and only $12,000 cash is required.

Fateful Procedure Debate Opened by PM Today

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson recorded their opposition once more.

The six-day debate ended shortly after a Conservative bid to shelve the legislation until after the next election was defeated 117 to 75.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said that if the 36 senators over 75 decide to retire, the temptation will be strong for
Mr. Pearson to pack the Senate with Liberal followers on the eve of the next election.

"Never before in history did a future minister lead history with such an unusual work barrel—36 appointments," he said.

Mr. Pearson interjected that Mr. Diefenbaker made four appointments to the senate in the two days preceding the defeat of his government.

Mr. Diefenbaker replied that a Senate retirement bill he introduced as prime minister would not have come into force until the following election.

The Conservative bill proposed to retire all senators at 75, affecting incumbents as well as future appointments. It died on the Commons order paper when Parliament was dissolved for the June 18, 1962, general election.

THINKS IT'S USELESS

H. A. Olson (SC—Medicine Hat) said Mr. Diefenbaker proposed the amendment because "he wants his fingers back in the pork barrel." He saw no useful purpose in it.

Bolivian Factories Under Guard As Miners' Strike Grips Country

LA PAZ, Bolivia (Reuters)—
Factories were under heavy police guard here today as most of this landlocked South American country was paralyzed by a general strike caused by the weekend banishment of miners' leader Juan Lechin Oquendo.

Also 60 persons were reported to have been arrested on subversion charges. Armed miners were still in control of many mines in the mountain region southeast of the capital.

Unconfirmed reports said those arrested included eight members of the Revolutionary
which was led by Lechin, a former Bolivian vice-president.

Juan Lechin, President Gen. Rene Barrientos, Oquendo early this year accused Lechin of trying to divide the country's army and said he was "no doubt a Communist." Lechin was banished to Paraguay Saturday.

That sparked off bloody demonstrations, and the government
Monday put the country in a state of siege—one step below martial law. It also placed all armed Bolivian men between 18 and 50 on military call-up orders.

Factories were placed under heavy guard as support intimated for the general strike, began when in a general demonstration Monday in protest against Lechin's banishment.

Barrientos, who earlier ordered all union leaders dismissed and new union elections within 90 days, Tuesday night said he would go to the mines to prove the unions favored constitutional government and not Lechin.

Peachland WI Discuss Meeting

PEACHLAND—The Women's Institute held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. W. A. Selwyn.

A tea was planned for June 11 and will be held in the Athletic Hall, Peachland. This will consist of a white elephant table, home take table, tea and a flower display. Due to winter injury to so many flowers, it was decided not to hold the annual flower show, but in its place have this tea, ask that people bring any types of flowers with a first, second and third prize given to the best. Mrs. Ivor Jackson is the convener.

Mrs. Selwyn gave her report of the annual convention held in Kelowna. The pennies for Friendship fund was started and a plant exchange was held.

Jim Wilds was asked to look after the cenotaph again this season.

Tea was served by Mrs. Edwin Neil and Mrs. J. Hunter.

will take place in the district office from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The Vernon Irrigation District office is at 2904, 29th Ave. During the past week a series of meetings

Church Women Give A Supper

PEACHLAND—The United Church Women held a successful community supper in the Legion Hall, with a large attendance from Peachland and several car loads from West-bank. Preparing and serving the supper were Mrs. L. B. MacPherson, Mrs. Wesley Duzin, Mrs. J. K. Halemback, Mrs. Arne Oimann, Mrs. J. K. Todd, Mrs. Edwin Neil, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. Beth Garlinge, Mrs. Martha Powell, Mrs. Pywell and Mrs. C. J. Chatten. The funds from this supper will be used to help redecorate the interior of the United Church.

The United Church Women express their thanks to all the ladies who helped, all who donated food and to the people who supported the supper.

Boy Badly Gashed By Lion In Cage

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A caged lion clawed an eight-year-old boy Monday night, causing deep gashes in the boy's neck, which required three stitches. The boy, Steven Patrzak, had gone with some friends to Light-house Field, where the Hamid Merton Christian Wallace Brothers Circus is setting up for an 11-day show.

Forest Fires Total 110

VERNON—Forest service protection officers reported 110 new forest fires during the past week bring to 184 the total number recorded to date. Fifty six were still burning, although all were quiet and considered under control. Although statistics to date—184 fires costing $9,050—are above 1964 figures for same period, the number and costs are still down far below the 1949-year average. 1964 was an exceptionally low fire-occurrence season.

The outlook as provided by the British Columbia Forest Service weekly report indicates higher temperatures have caused a slight increase in the fire hazard, however, all districts report a low moderate rating. No major change is expected.

AROUND B.C.

Labor Short In Industry

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mining, logging and construction industries in B.C. all face a serious shortage of skilled workers. B. C. White, regional director of the National Employment Service, reported Tuesday. Unemployment in the province in April dropped to seven per cent compared with March, and was nine per cent lower than April, 1964, he said.

TURN'S SOD
KIMBERLEY (CP)—Highways Minister Gagliardi named a bulldozer Tuesday at sod-turning ceremonies for the Kimberley centennial project. The project includes erecting a 50-foot statue of a miner, a museum, and a centennial house, and landscaping a park.

Council Commitments Need To Be Followed

City council Monday night ran smack into the acid test of theory and found theory wanting.

For nearly a year highly educated, and experienced, planners have studied the Five Bridges area included in city boundaries last June. The problem was to set up regulations for the area in keeping with planning for the best possible land use.

The planners, certainly took long enough coming to a decision and they apparently set out a plan that would suit many areas.

They left the Five Bridges commercial areas stand where they are opposite commercial areas in the older part of the city across the road, or where they are opposite churches and the like. This pleased residents who live on the north side of Vernon Rd. At the Monday night meeting, they said they did not want commercial establishments across the road from them.

The planners evidently did not talk to people who owned commercial property in the Five Bridges area. Some were operating commercial establishments, others had bought commercially zoned property years ago with the hope they could capitalize on their purchase as the city grew.

Some have been sitting on vacant lots for as much as 10 years.

Both sides have good arguments for their own contention.

But the crux of the matter, it seems, lies in the story told to Five Bridges area residents before the city boundaries were extended.

As Ald. Thomas Angus told council Monday night when the city wanted the Five Bridges area to agree to come into the fold residents there were assured there would be no rezoning.

If this were so, and it should be a matter of record, why then the nearly year-long study on how to change things if residents were assured there would be no change.

Surely many people will agree some commercial establishments in the Five Bridges area need sprucing up and it is possible the planner chose this method of slowly weeding them out.

Rezoning might be one way of doing it, but it would appear a more certain way would be to instruct the delinquent owners to do the job within a reasonable length of time and leave the others.

Council certainly needs to check back on its commitments before it makes a decision.

Maverick Kicks Again

Hamilton Spectator

It would be surprising if Prince Edward Island discussed leaving Confederation. It is not surprising when British Columbia does.

British Columbia, from the days of "Honest John" Oliver to present-day Premier W. A. C. Bennett, has been slightly maverick. To say the least. On the shores of the Pacific it has often seemed a wonderland apart. Sometimes it gets lonely.

Right now B.C. isn't exactly lonely—it's just disappointed. It hasn't been getting its own way since it scuttled the Columbia River agreement. Its government is logically upset at the Pearson administration for singling out B.C. as the province whose claims to offshore oil and mineral deposits will be seriously questioned and placed against those of the federal government.

It is also genuinely infuriated at the slow-poke manner Ottawa gets around to doing anything constructive about its banking ambitions.

Immigration policy is another sore point. B.C., like California, is a very popular resting place for thousands of immigrants and it has always felt the federal government has overlooked that fact when establishing a nationwide policy.

In particular, though, the thorn in the B.C. lion's side has been Quebec. And why not? The amazing thing is that more provinces haven't become green-eyed jealous of favors being passed Quebec's way.

The truth is that ever since separatism became a calculated whine in the hills around Montreal's James Street, the B.C. government, and particularly Premier Bennett himself, has been enviously eyeing developments.

From time to time Mr. Bennett has gone so far as to hint that B.C. might just explode all over a Dominion-Provincial conference table. He and Alberta's Premier Manning have been the most outspokenly critical anti-Quebec leaders in the West.

So now B.C., in the words of one of its cabinet ministers, is discussing secession. Confederation is leaving it behind, according to the efficient Mr. Robert Bonner, the province's attorney-general.

Following all such threats are a long string of ifs. If Ottawa doesn't do this, if Mr. Pearson doesn't soon do that, and if those Ottawa Liberals can't see their way clear to...

Ad infinitum. Oh well, it's really worth more than a casual yawn. In a way, it's refreshing, hearing the whines coming in from the northwest. It's getting so that immunity may soon set in.

Calorie History

Calorie counting has become a national Canadian sport among middle-aged men.

Everyone we meet seems to know what a calorie does but few know what a calorie is.

It all started in 1794 with a French chemist named Antoine Lavoisier whose experiments led to the development of standard measurement for a unit of heat—a calorie. This unit represented, to M. Lavoisier, the amount of heat necessary to raise the temperature of one gram of water on degree centigrade.

Then biochemists and nutritionists came on the scene because heat is a form of energy. Finally one Wilbur Atwater designed a system for measuring the caloric value of foods.

Dr. Atwater's "kilogram calories" are, to the world of nutrition, 1,000 times larger than M. Lavoisier's "small calories" and he gave the values used ever since in nutrition and calorie-counting.

Calories represent little more than the energy-giving components of food. When you absorb more than your energy requirements, your body stores them away for later use. Usually in rolls of fat many of us try to hide.

We who have tried to diet and know that it takes a deficit of 3,500 calories to lose one pound of body fat, will have scant sympathy for M. Lavoisier's ultimate fate. He was beheaded for his political activities.

TRAVEL IS SO BROADENING

Racial Pressures Dividing North American Governments

WASHINGTON (CP)—One of the ironies in the evolution of federal government in North America is that racial pressures are helping push trends in Canada and the United States in diametrically opposed directions.

In Canada, faced with a new insistence on the French "fact" of Quebec, the autonomy of the 10 provinces grows.

In the United States, at a pace vastly stimulated by the Negro's fight for equality, federal power continues to broaden over the 50 states.

That growth was a basic but blurred issue in last November's presidential election. Former Senator Barry Goldwater, while winning, still salvaged 26,000,000 votes on a platform in which the preservation of state rights was a fundamental plank.

The rise of federal powers in the U.S. has been a recent phenomenon but it has become a snowballing process with continuing momentum supplied by the president, the Congress and the Supreme Court.

Civil rights legislation, including the voting bill now before Congress to shove federal power down to the municipalities level of necessary on behalf of the Negro, has been a major thrust in recent years.

Conservatives who regard Goldwater as their voice say that the American Constitution in regard to state rights has been bent until it is broken, and see the New Deal administration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt in the 1930s as the period when federal powers first got out of hand.

The United States was born as a reluctant union of 13 colonies, gathered together against Britain for protection in practice of an antidotal laissez-faire philosophy.

In part, that philosophy lay behind the South's ultimate protest in the shape of the Civil War and it contributed to the prolonged existence of an atmosphere in which entrepreneurs such as Andrew Carnegie could amass from a richly resourced economy huge fortunes, long after federal power had begun to take over in other countries.

For example the U.S. Bill of Rights of 1791, passed as a constitutional amendment was long held by the Supreme Court not to apply to the states.

The first real federal breakthrough is regarded as the establishment in 1887 of the Interstate Commerce Commission on the principle that commerce among the states was a federal responsibility.

Other milestones followed. One was the 1890 Anti-Trust Act. But it was not until 1945—despite New Deal legislation designed to cope with a national depression—that Congress got around to adopting through a fair employment bill the concept that it was responsible for the general welfare.

Desegregation of schools flowed from a 1954 Supreme Court ruling. Last year, Congress desegregated public places and now will desegregate the ballot box. There is also in the so-called medical care bill a precedent for more federal power. That applies equally to the passage of a $1,500,000,000 school-education bill channeling federal aid right into the nursery—school level.

These measures are part of an accelerating pattern in which total federal financial aid to the states will approximate a record $13,600,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

This help, tied to specific programs from highways to schools, parks, health programs, agriculture and conservation, has tripled in a decade to include more than 150 programs.

USED AS LEVER

Significantly from the Negro's standpoint, it can be and is being used as a club to enforce desegregation. States or municipalities not complying with desegregation will not get the funds—at a time when such aid accounts for more than 15 per cent of state and municipal income.

One possible federal concession against the trend has been a proposal, still being thought about, for turning over a certain amount of money to the states each year without any strings. This would be roughly comparable to the unconditional grants that now are possible for Canadian provinces under the optional formula demanded by Quebec.

Anne Boleyn, second wife of Henry VIII of England, was beheaded 429 years ago today—in 1536. She produced Elizabeth I but no male heir, and her three years of marriage were not happy. Anne's unwillingness to become Henry's mistress had led to his seeking a papal annulment of his marriage with Catherine, and so contributed in part to the establishment of the Church of England. The day after Anne's execution, Henry married Jane Seymour.

OTTAWA REPORT

An Eating Diet Drew Attention

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

Last September I switched from my usual topic one day, writing about plumpness instead of politics. Murdo Martin, the burly ex-firefighter who is the New Democratic MP from Timmins, had cut his weight from 285 pounds to 232 in three months, I wrote. And this had been achieved by a simple and scientific diet suggested to him by his colleague Dr. William Howe, MP for Hamilton, Ontario.

This tolerant but trim regime might be described as the "Guzzle while you glaze" diet. In fact, Bill Howe tells me that his successful proposals stem from two facts, one historical and one scientific. Man is by nature a carnivorous animal, who, before the coming of fancy foods, ate just animals and animal products and such vegetation as is found growing above the earth in accessible and edible form. Secondly, our body contains about one-tenth of one per cent of carbohydrates, so our diet should match the composition.

Two things have happened since I wrote that story eight months ago. Bill Howe's diet has become famous all over Canada, first among eager fans who read about it in this paper, and subsequently through other newspapers and broadcasting stations following up my story. And Murdo Martin has slipped, adding perhaps eight pounds to his slenderized weight. "It's all that coffee I drink," he confessed to me. "I have 15 or 20 cups a day, and I cheat a little by putting some sugar in it."

FLOOD OF ENQUIRIES
Bill Howe himself slashed 46 pounds off his weight and 11 inches off his waist through his diet, reducing himself to 170 pounds and a 34-inch waistline.

He has also become the proud owner of Parliament Hill's finest collection of pounds of sugar every time he orders a cup of coffee from the parliamentary cafeteria, he takes the sugar out of the saucer and dumps it in a large shoe box under his desk.

Letters about diet have poured into this politician's office from all over Canada—but to his chagrin, this column is not carried by a Hamilton newspaper. "One man in Prince Edward Island wrote to tell me that he has never voted New Democrat in his life, but he is so pleased by the result of my diet that he would vote for me if I ran there," Bill Howe told me.

To reply to the many enquiries reaching him, he had copies made of his diet sheet and has sent out over 1,500. The latter comes the man who caused us all that trouble," exclaimed his busy secretary, when I walked into his office one day.

MENUS SUGGESTED
"The 'Guzzle while you glaze' diet lets you eat as much as you like of the permitted foods, so while you honestly follow it, you never have to become a midnight snack. Rather, you can eat as much as you like of a delicious meal of meat and vegetables."

Just keep off root vegetables, wheat products and sugar. You can use artificial sweeteners if you wish, and you must take vitamin C in the form of ascorbic acid tablets, and two or three table spoons of polyunsaturated fat daily. The latter can be in the form of salad dressing made of corn oil.

For the guidance of readers, he they men, women or children, who want to try what has become Parliament Hill's favorite diet, I will describe in a later column some typical breakfast, lunch and dinner menus suggested by Dr. Howe.

Bar flies can have their anxiety satisfactorily by the diet permits any alcoholic drink not containing sugar. This means dry wines, and long drinks made of unsweetened mixes, such as gin and tonic water, or spirits and water.

It can be an expensive diet though. Bill Howe told me that, having taken 11 inches off his waist, he had to buy a large part of an entirely new wardrobe of clothes.

New Political Pattern Sighted For Willy Brandt's Socialists

BERLIN (AP)—A new political pattern may be emerging in West Germany to give Willy Brandt and his Socialist party their first taste of national power in more than a generation.

The new setup would be a partnership between the Socialists and Chancellor Erhard's Christian Democrats, who have dominated the country ever since West Germany acquired its own government after the Second World War. The Socialists have not held a national cabinet post since before Adolf Hitler took power in the early 1930s.

A shift probably would mean Brandt's taking over either the chancellorship or the foreign ministry after German elections this fall. He now is mayor of West Berlin.

Many Christian Democrats oppose such a partnership, particularly ex-chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who still is the nominal party leader. But they may be forced into it, and Erhard has tried not to shut the door on it.

The Christian Democrats are the biggest party in Parliament, but they have no clear majority. They have been in partnership with the Free Democrats.

The strength of the three parties may be different after the election. At the moment, Brandt's Socialists seem ahead of the Christian Democrats. They may turn out to be the biggest party in the new Parliament.

Even if the Christian Democrats hold their present plurality, Erhard and his friends may decide that their partnership with the Free Democrats on the national level will not give them enough votes. It is not considered practical for Germany to govern with a tiny majority, as Prime Minister Harold Wilson does in Britain.

The answer may have to be a coalition of Socialists and Christian Democrats.

The Socialists, though often attacked as Reds and Class Conscious by the other parties, no longer favor nationalization. They have dropped other Marx-inspired and on Atlantic defence problems, they go along more readily with the United States and Britain than some Christian Democrats do.

(7) Prince George	Court House	September 30, 1965	10.30 a.m.
(8) Nelson	Court House	October 5, 1965	10.30 a.m.

A map of the province showing the proposed division into electoral districts and indicating the representation and name proposed to be given to each such district, together with a schedule setting forth the proposed boundaries of each such district, is appended to this notice.

Parliament has provided by virtue of subsection 4 of section 17 of the above Act that no representation shall be heard by the Commission at its sittings unless notice in writing has been given, stating the name and address of the person by whom the representation is sought to be made and indicating concisely the nature of the representation and of the interest of such person. Such notice in writing must be given within twenty-three (23) days from the date of publication of this notice, to the Secretary to the Commission, at 615 Ritz Hotel, 1040 West Georgia Street, VANCOUVER 5, British Columbia.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, this 19th day of May, 1965.

HAROLD W. McINNES, Chairman, Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of British Columbia.

British Columbia

There shall be in the province of British Columbia twenty-three electoral districts, each of which shall return one member. The Commission proposes that the electoral districts be named and described as follows:

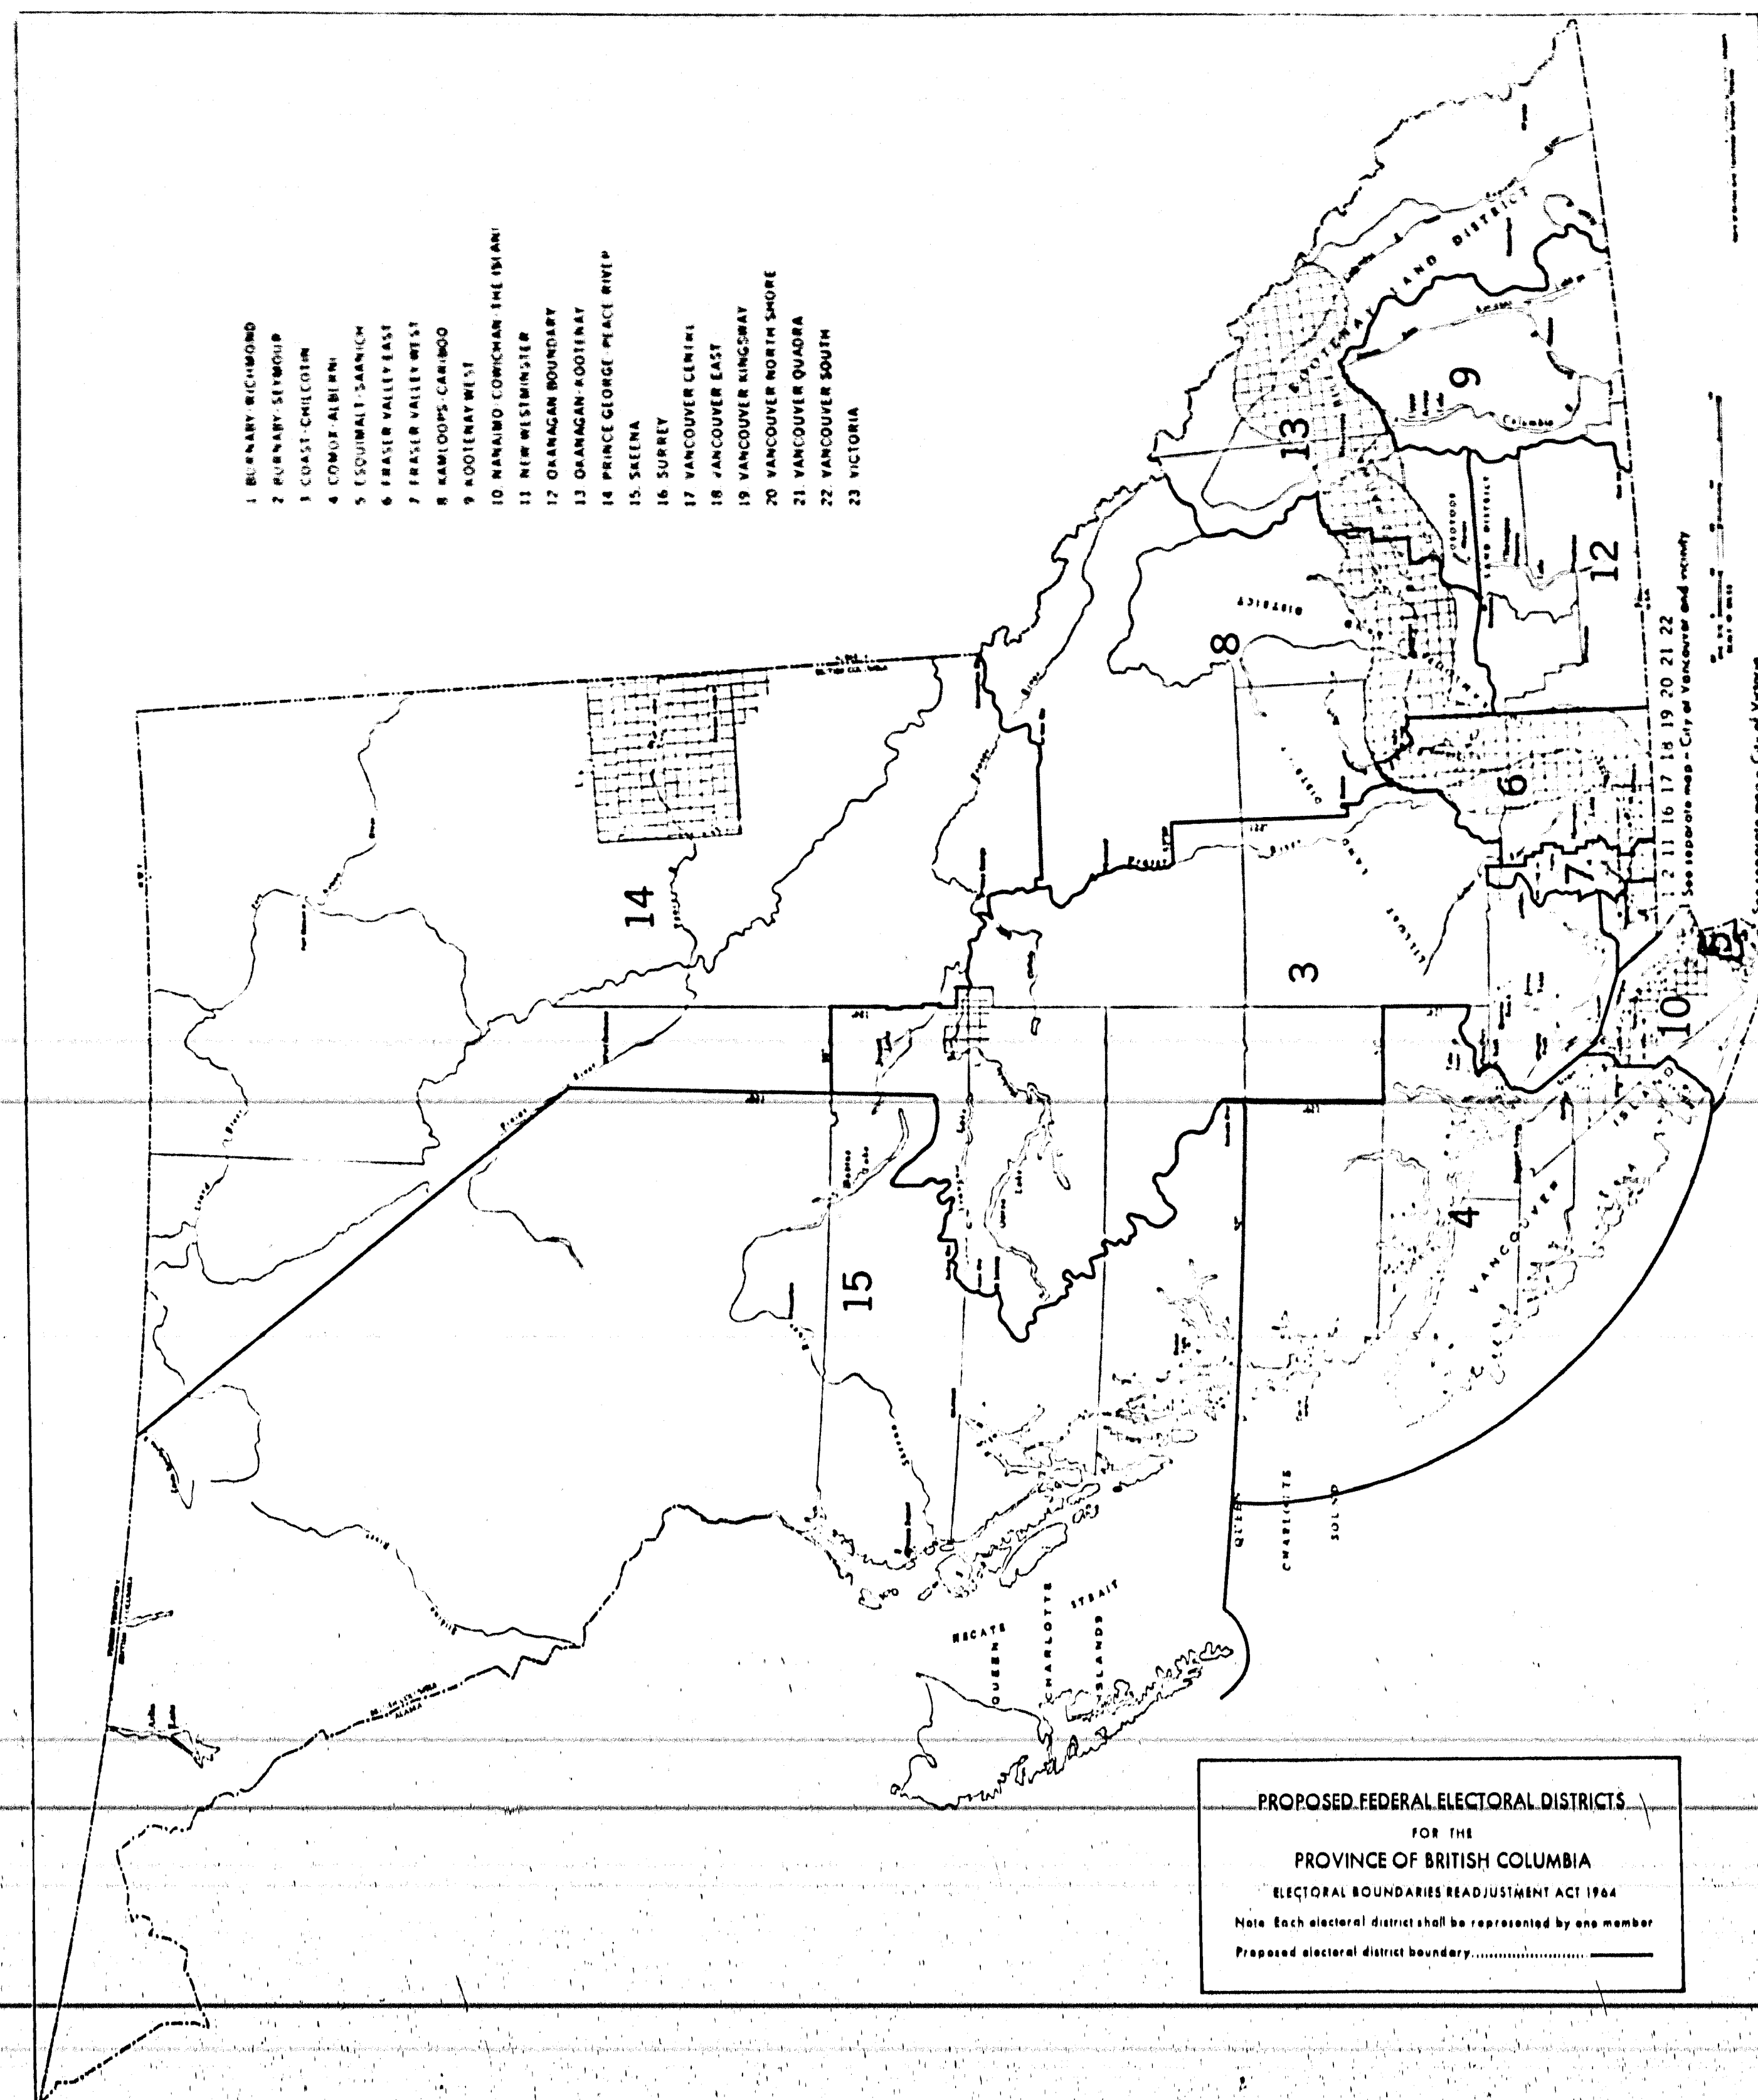

In the following descriptions reference to "street", "avenue", "road", "drive", "highway", "railway", "pipeline", "strait", "sound", "channel", "passage", "inlet", "reach", "arm", "lake", "river", "creek" signifies the centre line of such street, avenue, road, etc., unless otherwise described.

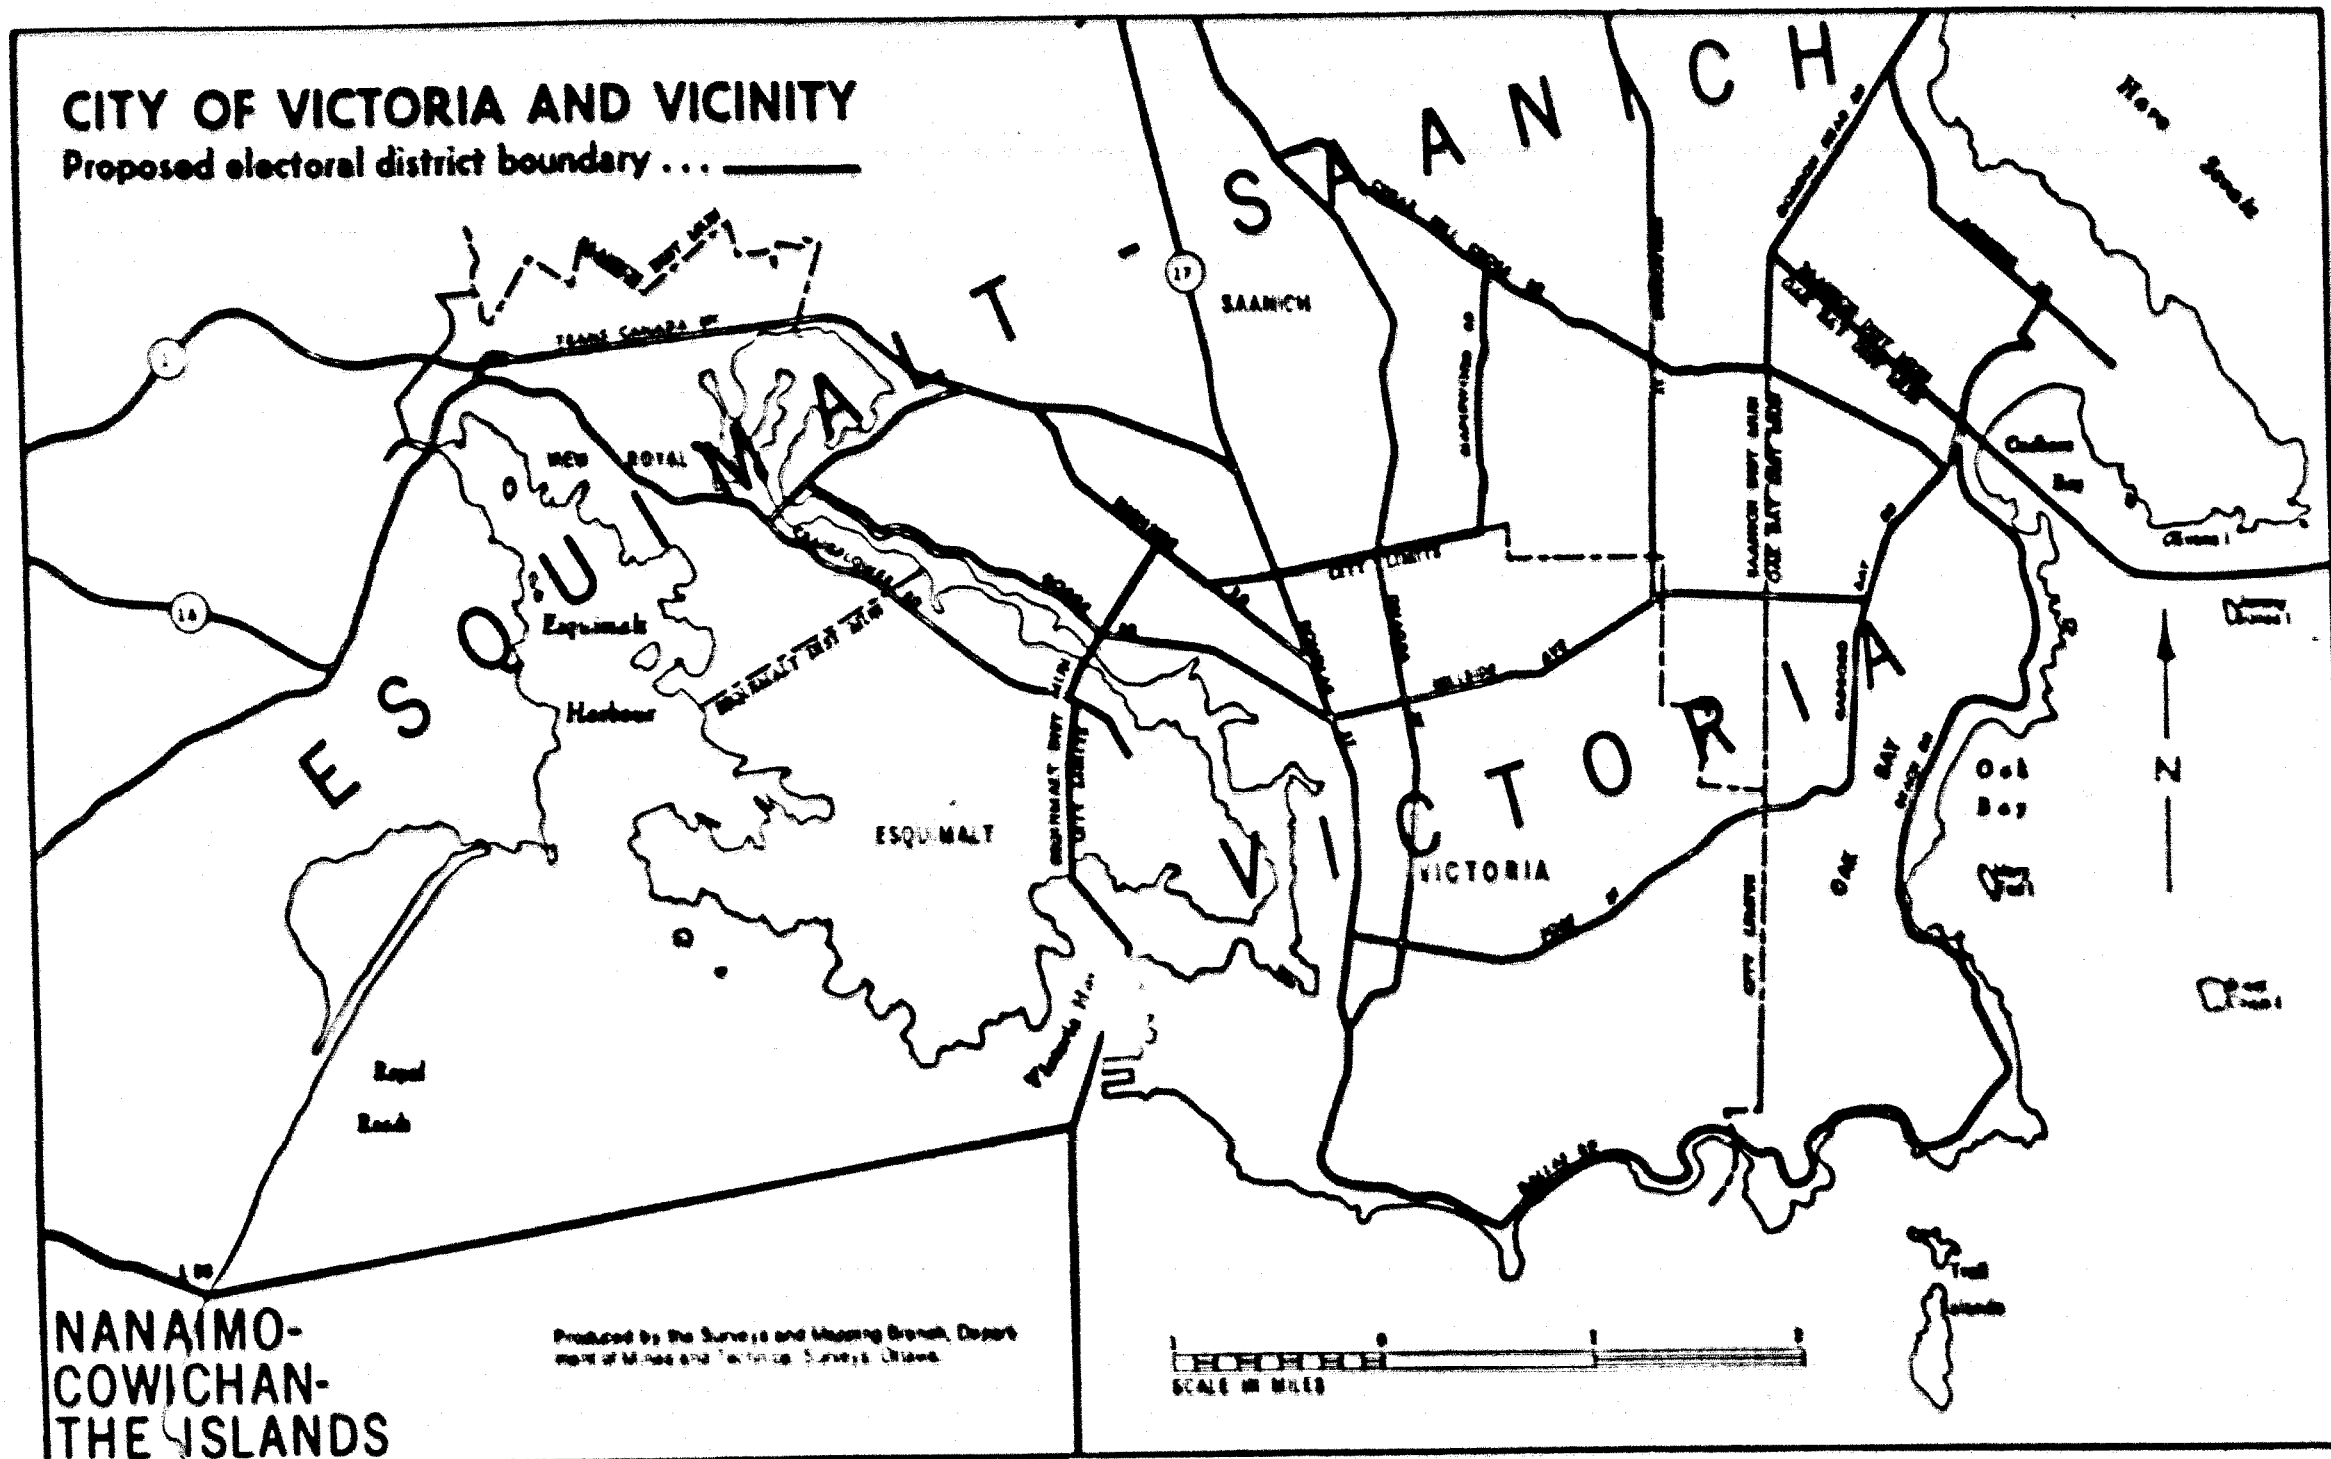

The population figures of each electoral district are taken from the 1961 decennial census.

1. BURNABY RICHMOND consisting of the territory bounded as follows: commencing at the intersection of the south boundary of the province of British Columbia and the westerly boundary of Surrey District Municipality; thence northerly along said westerly boundary to Newton Road; thence westerly along Newton Road to Oliver Road; thence northerly along Oliver Road to Eighty-fourth (84th) Avenue; thence westerly along Eighty-fourth (84th) Avenue to Brooke Road; thence north-westerly along Brooke Road and its projection northwesterly to the Fraser River; thence northeasterly along said river to the southeasterly limit of the City of New Westminster; thence southwesterly along said limit to the west limit of said city; thence northerly along said west limit across Lulu Island, up the North Arm of Fraser River and along Twentieth (20th) Street to Tenth (10th) Avenue; thence southwesterly along the projection southwesterly of the northwesterly limit of the City of New Westminster to the former British Columbia Electric Railway; thence northwesterly along said railway to the east limit of the City of Vancouver; thence south along said east limit to the southerly limit of said city of Vancouver; thence westerly along said southerly limit to the west boundary of Richmond District Municipality; thence south along said west boundary and its projection south to the south boundary of the province of British Columbia; thence east along said south boundary to the point of commencement. (Population: 72,481)

2. BURNABY-SEYMOUR consisting of the territory bounded as follows: commencing at the intersection of the northwest limit of the City of New Westminster and Grandview Highway; thence northwesterly along Grandview Highway to Sperling Avenue; thence northerly along Sperling Avenue to Hastings Street; thence easterly along Hastings Street to Cliff Avenue; thence northerly along Cliff Avenue and its

INTERPRETING WORLD EVENTS

Johnson Ran Up Against History
And Now He's Hung On Hook

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson not only ran up against history. He got hung on a hook.

He got on the hook when he sent U.S. Marines into the Dominican Republic. This was intervention in the internal affairs of a Latin American country, something the United States had promised not to do.

The promise is in writing even though Johnson gave two reasons for his action: first to save U.S. lives in the Dominican revolution; next, to prevent a Communist takeover.

He hasn't changed that second position even though the leader of the rebels, Col. Francisco Caamaño Deras, has pictured himself on television as anti-Communist.

Reports from the Dominican Republic say anti-U.S. feeling is tense among the rebels against the conservative and unpledged junta which the U.S. backed. This is where Johnson ran into history.

In this century's first 30 years, U.S. presidents ordered Marines into various Latin American countries for various reasons, and sometimes kept them there for years. Anti-Americanism covered the southern continent.

FBI MADE AMENDS

More still, the U.S. government recently backed and arched President Franklin D. Roosevelt tried to wipe out these memories with his good neighbor policy.

He stopped interventions, promising there would be no more. After the war the U.S. made several agreements with its Latin neighbors on this subject, saying so.

Particularly, the U.S. agreed to the charter of the Organization of American States which says: "No state or group of states has the right to intervene directly or indirectly for any reason whatever in the internal or external affairs of any other state."

Three years ago the foreign members of the OAS including the U.S. also agreed that the principles of communism are incompatible with the principles of the inter-American system.

Johnson has cited that second agreement in defense of his use of Marines, but that agreement doesn't give any American country the right to intervene on its own against communism or for any other reason in any other country.

But if Communists are as much of a threat in the Dominican Republic as Johnson seems to think, then if he took no action he might have the same kind of dilemma and embarrassment that President Eisenhower faced.

Fidel Castro in the years he led the Cuban revolution against the exiled Fulgencio Batista was backed by the U.S. never for a President. Then when he took over there was communism on the front steps of the United States.

The bidding:

	West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

Card reading is the most important single faculty required of the competent declarer. The ability to interpret from the opponents' bids and plays how their cards are divided is an essential which no good card player can do without. After all, once the location of the opposing 26 cards is known, it is not really difficult to achieve the best possible result.

Take a case like this one, where South gets to four hearts on the bidding shown and West leads a diamond. Declarer takes the diamond with the ace and plays the king of hearts, which East wins with the ace.

East returns a diamond to the king and South must now watch his step or he will end up going down one. Declarer's best play, without seeing the opponents' cards, is to enter dummy with a spade, lead a heart, and finesse the time!

If he does this, he makes the contract. If he does not, he is defeated.

I am willing to grant that this finesse has all the earmarks of being based on a look at East's hand. Ordinarily, it would be proper to cash the Q of hearts on the reasonable assumption that the hearts are divided 3-2.

However, in this case, all signs point to a 4-1 division of the trump. For this reason, the finesse becomes the indicated play.

Let's see why this is so. West passed originally, but then reentered the bidding with a double of a heart. At trick two, East showed up with the ace of hearts, leaving 11 high-card points, at most, which West could have had for his vulnerable takeout double.

West could scarcely double with only 11 high-card points unless he had either a void or a singleton in hearts. A hand where West could have the 10 ♠ of hearts and still justifiably double the heart bid would be extremely rare, if not impossible.

On this basis, declarer has every right to assume that a heart finesse, if attempted, will succeed.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Stars continue to be highly beneficent, encouraging business and financial interests and promising the fulfillment of long-pending projects. Planetary blessings are also showered upon personal relationships, with special emphasis on happy family, social and romantic interests. All groups of activities should prove stimulating.

FOR THIS BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates good possibilities for occupational and/or financial gains between the latter part of this month and mid-September; also in early October, late December and next March, when you will enter a really excellent 3-month cycle which should step up your interests on all fronts. Those engaged in creative work—and many of the Taurus-Gemini couples are—should have an excellent year, with June, September and next January outstanding months. There will be periods in which new and original ideas can be worked out most profitably. Persons in all lines should however, avoid extravagance and speculation between mid-October and mid-December; also next February.

The next 12 months will be stimulating from a domestic and social standpoint—especially if you are married or engaged. Friction between early November and mid-December. This could be caused by your innate tendency toward over-possessiveness with loved ones, or, if you want smooth sailing, try to curb this trait. Best periods for travel and social activities: The weeks between June and late October, late January and April. Most propitious periods for romance: June, late August, late October, next February.

A child born on this day will be endowed with great ambition and versatility, but may become so restless with projects, that he starts, but drops them without giving them a chance to the periods in which new and
